

Municipalities Begin Talks On Incinerator

Aurora—The "good neighbor" policy was effectively illustrated on Monday evening as representatives of Aurora, Newmarket and Richmond Hill councils gathered at Aurora to discuss the possibility of providing a jointly owned incinerator that would be used for the disposal of garbage in the three municipalities. While nothing definite was arrived at, the three municipalities all expressed interest and concern in the plan and town clerk Harold Clark, Aurora, was instructed to act as liaison officer in securing figures on the expense involved and to arrange for the Ontario department of public health to send a representative to another meeting to give the department's views. It is hoped to hold another meeting in April.

Mayor Ross Linton of Aurora acted as chairman and Reeve William Neal, on behalf of Richmond Hill, the original proposers of the plan, led the discussion. Present were: Newmarket, Clerk Wesley Brooks and Councillors Frank Bowser and George Byers; Richmond Hill, Clerk Russell Lynett, Reeve William Neal and Councillors Ralph Paris, Percy Hill, Wes Middleton and Cecil Mahley; Aurora, Mayor Ross Linton, Reeve C. E. Sparks, Deputy Reeve Asa Cook, Councillors J. E. Sisman, Charles Davies, Thomas Swindle, Victor Jones and Dr. Crawford Rose.

Aurora and Richmond Hill have the same method of disposing of garbage and use the same method of financing and the same site for disposal. The charge is included in the general tax rate with a private contractor doing the pick-up and providing "the dump", which is situated in Whitchurch township.

PEOPLE URGED TO ORGANIZE IN DEMOCRACY

Newmarket—Speaking on the theme Democracy Needs Organization, Charles H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America, said here Monday night at a public meeting sponsored by the North York C.C.F. that only "powerful unions, widespread co-operatives and politically-conscious farm organizations can stem the tide of monopoly capitalism towards economic dictatorship and political fascism."

Mr. Millard was introduced by A. H. Woods, president of C.C.F. association in North York. The meeting was chaired by G. A. Crutcher and Mrs. Frank Ramsay, Sharon, provided a piano interlude.

"There is a great social struggle going on at present between democracy and dictatorship," said Mr. Millard. "It has to be one or the other. Dictatorship and democracy are opposites and there is no economic, political or social middle ground. We must organize, not from the top down, but from the bottom, from the man in the street, towards the top," he said.

Mr. Millard said that Canada was rushing into dictatorship in the form of the depression which he said was bound to come. "Depression is a form of dictatorship because it exercises economic control over the people," he said.

From The People

"Democracy springs from the people," said Mr. Millard. "It depends upon the participation of the people but people have no voice and no effective part in democracy unless they are organized and have, through their collective economic and political organization, received training, education and partnership in democratic processes and institutions." Mr. Millard said that every modern monopolistic corporation has a "dictatorship tendency and influence on a community."

Mr. Millard said that during the war, Canada had found the money and found the resources to make her the fourth exporting nation in the world, even with a large part of its population in the armed forces and to enjoy a certain prosperity.

Now, "Canada must attain a more equitable distribution of its national wealth and without delay if Canadians are to avert another demoralizing depression," he declared. Low wages are robbing the Canadian people of the power to purchase and the result will be another depression, he said.

Is it a democracy where 17 percent of the population receive 44 percent of the national wealth? he asked. When there is such an inequitable distribution of the wealth of the country, those not receiving an adequate income cannot afford to purchase goods to keep other employed, he stated.

Mr. Millard said that the banks and insurance companies owned only $277 millions worth of victory bonds from actual loan purchases but now they own over $3 billions worth, "about 75 percent of the national debt," in bonds cashed by public.

Repeating his assertion that there must be organization in the interests of democracy, he said that the unions cannot remain non-partisan. "They can't say nothing and just drift—they must choose between democracy and dictatorship through their political support," he declared.

SHARES IN HONORS

Newmarket—The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada has announced its "record of performance honor roll" of the five highest producing females in Canada, in each class by ages for 1946. Major D. E. CHANGE IN DEADLINES

Because of mechanical difficulties and the increasing number of copies of The Era and Express which must be printed each week, deadlines for advertising and news copy must be set ahead so that the paper may be published on time.

The new deadlines are: Classified advertising, accepted no later than 5:30 p.m. Wednesday; display advertising, accepted no later than 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

To be sure that it will be printed, news copy should reach The Era and Express office as early as possible in the week. News copy coming into the office late Wednesday or early Thursday mornings will be too late to ensure publication.

In the past, a policy of leniency in news and advertising deadlines has been followed, but the large press run, 3,800, and mechanical difficulties have made it necessary to choose between earlier deadlines or a frequently late paper. We ask the co-operation of all advertisers and correspondents in helping us keep late copy to the minimum.

Vote On Auditorium As Memorial April 7

Newmarket—The Newmarket town council Tuesday night passed a by-law to authorize a vote of the property owners in Newmarket on April 7 on the question: "Are you in favor of the acquisition of property and the construction of a municipal auditorium as a war memorial on it, and the issuance of debentures for the payment of the cost to the town of the project?"

The by-law comes after a meeting held last week when the town council passed by-laws to initiate expropriation proceedings against properties on Park Ave. and Botsford St. west of the post office.

The by-law Tuesday night was introduced by the chairman of the finance committee, Deputy Reeve J. L. Spillette who said that the estimated cost of a municipal auditorium on the property was $115,000, of which half had been guaranteed by the industries in Newmarket.

"It is a privilege to introduce such a by-law," he said. "The industries of Newmarket have graciously guaranteed to pay half of the estimated cost of the building. The town need only pay the other half of the cost of the building and the cost of the property."

Deputy Reeve Spillette said that the problem in the past had not been so much the financing of it but the exact form a war memorial should take and its site. The financing of the town's share is expected to be done by means of 25-year debentures.

Mayor Joseph Vale said that the by-law carries with it no commitment on the part of the taxpayers other than to signify whether or not they are in favor of the acquisition of the land and the erection of the auditorium.

"Before such a vote is taken, shouldn't a specific price be placed in the by-law?" asked Mrs. Caroline Edwards. "We don't know the cost of the building. We have only the estimate, and we don't know the cost of the land," said Mayor Vale. "We would only be guessing were we to set a price. We are in effect asking the town for a blank cheque with which to acquire the land and pay our half of the building."

MUST ALL WORK FOR THIS, MAYOR DECLARES

Newmarket—Speaking to the Newmarket town council Tuesday when authorizing a vote on the question of a municipal auditorium as a war memorial, Mayor Joseph Vale said that the council had in mind a memorial for the dead of both world wars as well as those who survived.

"We intend to see that all who served will be suitably recognized in the auditorium," he said.

"I think that the town must know that we as members of council are solidly behind this project, and that the members of the Newmarket Veterans' Association, and the Newmarket branch of the Canadian Legion, as well as the Lions club as a service club should be united in an effort to make the vote a success," he said. "We must all work for it."

PASSES EXAMINATION

Jean Rose, Newmarket, passed Grade I theory with first class honors in the mid-winter examinations at the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

Newmarket—The by-law authorizing a vote of the taxpayers on whether or not they were in favor of the acquisition of land for the erection of a municipal auditorium as a war memorial, passed in the Newmarket town council Tuesday night, was explained to the council by K. M. R. Stiver in the absence of the town solicitor, N. L. Mathews, K.C.

Mr. Stiver said that the by-law merely authorized the council to appeal to public opinion on whether or not the taxpayers were in favor of acquiring the land and erecting the memorial. "There is no other commitment here," he said.

"If the vote is favorable, there must be a construction by-law before the debentures can be issued to foot the cost. That by-law must be passed by the provincial municipal department which has the authority to order a second vote if there is any doubt as to the cost involved," Mr. Stiver said.

"No price for the cost of the building or the land has been placed in this by-law because it is impossible to estimate those costs without actually ordering tenders for the building. There can be no cost of the property until after the expropriation proceedings against the property have been heard and a county judge sets the price.

"If a figure is named, the taxpayers are obligated to it and if it is too high, there is an extra burden on the taxpayers."

HELPING OTHERS IN DISTRESS

There aren't many of us who at one time or another, haven't spared a word or a dollar on behalf of the sufferers in war devastated lands. But having made the gesture in the name of humanity, the matter rests while we go about the business of the day.

We suppose there is some jurisdiction for it. The burden of sorrow in some parts of the globe is too heavy to be shouldered completely in this land of peace and plenty. The contrast is too great. And when someone does attempt to bear the load, he becomes something of an embarrassment to his friends, unless with his crusading spirit he combines an exceptional amount of tact.

It is a human failing that when, in the name of humanity, someone cries too loudly the plight of this nation or that, he is treated like the spectre at the feast. It is not something of which to be proud, but that is the way it is. There is too little concern with ills of others.

It is refreshing, then, and a harbinger of some hope to know that a group of students are willing to sacrifice some of their own comfort for others. At Pickering College, the students voted overwhelmingly to substitute once a week a "relief" meal for their regular meal, with the difference in cost being sent to the "Save the Children Fund" where it is sufficient to maintain two otherwise destitute French children.

There are others who have responded to the call, particularly women who knit and sew, patch and collect garments for the unclothed, solicit funds for this project and that and generally by their faithful acceptance of a responsibility for others testify that there will come a day when this scarred old globe will truly be One World.

OLD MOTHER NATURE GOES ON RAMPAGE

Until experienced, one's imagination cannot begin to visualize the confusion and general interruption of the normal course of events that old Mother Nature is capable of when she goes on a rampage as was the case last week.

With roads blocked and small communities completely isolated by drifting snow, business was slowed almost to a standstill, children were marooned at their schools (those able to open), rations ran short as bread and milk trucks were unable to penetrate the drifts. It was a period of "make-do" as those in need sought substitutes for the daily requirements of living.

Businesses like the newspapers, which are heavily dependent upon regular communications by mail, suffered most. The regular country budget of news began arriving at The Era and Express office late Thursday morning and Friday, as the roads were opened and trains resumed their regular schedules. Some of the news was gathered by telephone but it was slow business with the phone circuits taxed to capacity.

But even the storm clouds of early last week had silver linings. The emergencies caused by the weather proved again that a good neighbor is worth his weight in gold. Neighbors banded together to assist their fellows in distress, accomplishing jointly what it was impossible to do alone. There are many stories coming out of the storm of lives saved and distress alleviated because of neighborly action.

As in every emergency, this one had its quota of heroes, most of them unsung. But a word at least can be said for the drivers of the snowplows who kept to their dangerous job in the driving snow in a futile effort to keep the main roads open. It was a losing battle as the wind-driven snow cut visibility to nothing. The fact that the roads were open so soon after the storm is a tribute to these men.

HORATIO ALGER

The announcement that a Hamilton man has invented a threadless nut and bolt, the patent for which is expected to sell for over $1 million, reads like a plot from one of the Horatio Alger stories in which the hero rises from "humble beginnings" to the pinnacle of success through his own grit and determination.

Mr. E. W. Corrigan, the hero of this tale, had to quit school and start work at the age of 14 when his father died. Followed years of labor, including a stint in the R.C.A.F. and a war job, before he was able to perfect his invention, working late at night and on holidays in his parlor workshop. His story is one of persistence in the face of failure until at last he was successful.

What is impressive about Mr. Corrigan's invention, apart from his own efforts, is the effect it will have on the nut and bolt industry. While the details are secret, it is said that Mr. Corrigan's invention will overcome the hazard of loosened bolts from vibration. From the pictures of the gadget, the principle is simple but it took many years of effort before it could be successfully adapted.

Mr. Corrigan's success is an example of the many opportunities that await the inventor. True, not all inventors can hope to claim a million dollars for their work, but in the elimination of everyday problems there are small fortunes to be had for the man who recognizes them, and is prepared to devote himself to their solutions.

Because of their prominence, we are apt to rely too much upon the ingenuity and resources of large research laboratories with their trained personnel which the larger industries maintain for industrial improvement. Industrial laboratories do account for many of the inventions, but there is still room for someone to invent the "better mousetrap" in his own front parlor.

GOOD YEAR FOR
"RUBBER BOOT SET"

While their elders are recovering from strained backs and blistered hands after shovelling their way out of the drifts last week, the small fry are rejoicing in the prospects of a wet spring. The heavy fall is a sure guarantee that when the March sun warms up to its job, there will be lots of water to play in.

It won't be long before the Rubber Boot Set can get its daily wading contests underway, each one daring the other to go a little deeper until the water pours down the tops of their boots and mother scolds over a pair of sopping stockings. With the "marbles" season coming in soon, the extra water will make an interesting hazard for some of the "hotshots."

There is rejoicing on the banks of the beautiful Holland River as preparations get underway for the formal spring launching of the P.P. (pole power) Susy Belle, the sweetest craft on the river and carrying a crew of three boys and one dog. The Susy Belle is made from part of a woodshed door and is more often than not a couple of inches under water, a fact which little bothers the crew. The craft variously flies the flag of the late Captain Kidd or the aircraft carrier, Glorious, depending on the mood of the crew. Commodore Mike, who skips the craft, says that with greater depth under her keel this spring, he plans to make a run downstream to the new Hoffman railway bridge part of the regular schedule.

The first weeks of spring are always exciting for the kids. The swift rush of water released from icy bondage, and the quickening in the air that accompanies the return of warmer weather make the season something special. Coming home from school, the children will sail matchsticks along the ruts in the road and down the hills, and they'll gather by the streams and make great ice dams and get soaking wet and perhaps catch their spring cold.

It's a season of fun, but it can be dangerous, particularly when the too-venturesome try to cross the ice on the pond when it has been weakened by the sun. Every spring has its quota of near tragedies from breaking ice. Have fun, but don't take chances.

EMBARGO ON OLEO SHOULD BE LIFTED

Canada avoided a serious butter shortage recently by having butter shipments from New Zealand, earmarked for England, diverted here. It was an act of pure selfishness. Even during a period of shortage, Canada is far better off than the Old Country. Canadian servicemen, remembering how their English hosts were so generous with their pitifully small ration, can scarcely relish the thought of depriving them of even that pittance.

The then impending shortage, and the steps taken to relieve it, again raise the question of the justice of the embargo against oleomargarine in this country. What justification can there be for the maintenance of such an embargo if the production of butter is not sufficient to meet current needs?

None has been louder in his protest against the monopolistic practices of Big Business than the Canadian farmer. Yet the Canadian farmer is the staunch defender of a monopoly of his own, the production of butter. A correspondent to The Era and Express last week asks: "How can farmers defend a monopoly which produces an inadequate amount (of butter), yet prohibits the manufacture and sale of substitutes?" The question has immediate application to current butter production and needs, but it has far wider implications which farmers might do well to examine.

This has been an age of organization. It has seen the growth of associations of all kinds, ranging from trade associations to farmers' federations. But despite their variety, they share the same purpose: protecting the common interests of their members. There can be no objection to the practice as long as it is maintained within the limits of the welfare of all the people. It is when they seek favors at the expense of the nation that such associations must be restricted. If unchecked, there will be government by organized pressure groups, instead of government by the people.

The farmers of Canada, through their national Federation of Agriculture, have generally refrained from pressure action to make their point. The federation has acted as a fact-finding body, a voice through which the farmers of Canada tell their needs, but it has also been impartial in its approach, citing facts rather than giving argument. It is a tribute to the farmers that they have maintained their sense of public virtue in that they have not let the federation become just another lobby.

Let the farmers demonstrate now their further recognition of an unjust restriction in the interest of a special group contrary to the public welfare by asking the discontinuance of the margarine embargo.

THE COMMON ROUND ISOLATION

When I was about eight years old, several cases of small pox developed in the town in which we were living and an old school house became an isolation hospital, so for many years I associated isolation and disease with a touch of wild bush country thrown in to give it a sort of emphasis.

My father used to take mother and I for long drives through Montague township in Lanark county and at that time much of the township was bush land with the farms widely separated and with an air of alertness as if they stood ready to meet the threat of the bush returning to overwhelm them. I can hear my father say, "These people must be almost completely isolated in winter."

And so, for many a moon isolation spoke to me in those tones of disease and loneliness.

War and Isolationism

Then came the two great wars and we heard more of isolation and isolationists than we had ever dreamed of—heard them defended and attacked in relation to a great nation: saw them gradually losing out in the sweep of public opinion, seeing a great nation realize that it's as true of nations as of men that none can live to themselves alone.

Isolation by Snow

But just now, many in Europe and in our North American continent are learning at first hand that there came, in spite of radio and air travel, which are daily drawing the world into smaller compass, a form of isolation that is almost as impenetrable as the great wall of China.

Today is Friday and since Monday no car has passed our way, no mail man has dropped letters in our boxes, but Frances and Stuart Starr and Orley and Murray McClure have brought it by foot and horse—our own box, by the way, long ago gave up the fight against the snow plow and retired under an indeterminate amount of snow to hibernate for the rest of the winter.

No baker travels our marble-like roadway; each house is a little oasis entirely surrounded by snow—heaps and mounds of drifts of snow such as those people who have lived here all their lives never witnessed before. The other half of the family had to dig our pump out of a drift before he could get a pail of water. Blue jays, nut-hatches, peckers and rabbits

- Around Town -

About the men and women you meet around town almost every day.

Fred, Albert Lundy, who played a large part in getting the streets of Newmarket paved and the sewers put in, would like to see a little money spent on the maintenance of the pavement in order to protect the original investment.

"I am afraid that the pavement is really going to start to deteriorate soon. Something must be done in the very near future or the $400,000 investment in pavements will be lost, to say nothing of the sewer system. The debentures for the sewers and the pavements are nearly all paid off now, and it is time that something was done to protect them," he says.

"The percentage of paved roads and sewers in the town is something of which I have always been proud. I doubt if there is another town in Ontario that has as large a percentage."

"Another thing that has always been a great source of satisfaction to me is the loyal support that the industries have always given the town in any worthwhile project. Few towns receive such wonderful and loyal support."

Born in the 1880's, Mr. Lundy put in 22 years on the Newmarket town council, during which time he served 17 years on the county council. He filled every important office on both councils except that of mayor, and in 1945 he was elected warden of the county. On his retirement from political life the following year he was appointed for five years to the Toronto and York roads commission.

"The commission has jurisdiction and supervision of all the suburban and county roads in the county," he explained. "Suburban roads are constructed

Gardening and municipal law are his hobbies, and he says that he is "of the opinion that the ground work is all laid for a bright and prosperous future for Newmarket."

LIBRARY CORNER
By CAROLINE E. ION

The book committee, the lady members of the Newmarket library board, is responsible for the selection of books found in Newmarket public library.

However, under a most informal and co-operative system, all members of the library board assist in this work, a work which necessitates many hours of volunteer time on the part of these busy citizens.

No large purchases such as an encyclopedia are made by the book committee independently, but it is this small group who regularly meet the book travelers when they visit Newmarket.

The Ontario Library Review, published quarterly, contains a book selection guide which is most helpful in this work. Although, it is said that by the time a book appears in this periodical it is past its first youth.

The Canadian Bookseller is another of the monthly reviews of books which are studied in an attempt to procure the best of material for the Newmarket public library. Marked lists are frequently obtained from the public libraries of larger cities to aid in this selection.

On several occasions books have been purchased upon the recommendation of the Home and School Association. The main objective in this work is to make available to the town of Newmarket the books that the citizens themselves wish to read. For, after all, it is their money which is used for these purchases so that the responsibility again rests with them as to the future success of this service.

Any person is free to make any suggestions to the book committee regarding the purchasing of suitable material—especially in the field of non-fictional literature. Favorable consideration is given all recommendations and if it is found that the book suggested will be of interest to others then (as has been the case on several occasions) it will be purchased.

The book committee endeavors at all times to allocate the spending of these public monies to the best of its ability and the splendid selection of books available at the Newmarket public library shows that this ideal has been achieved.

THEN AND NOW
W. Somerset Maugham
This entertaining story tells of how Machiavelli, then a minor servant of Florence, was sent to feel out the intentions of Caesar Borgia who was threatening the security of Florence.

Accompanying Machiavelli on his journey is a young protege, Piero Canestrini. In the midst of political and military intrigue, Machiavelli develops an interest in Aurelia, the young wife of a rich old husband. When his plans miscarry the cheater ends up not certain but what he himself has been cheated.

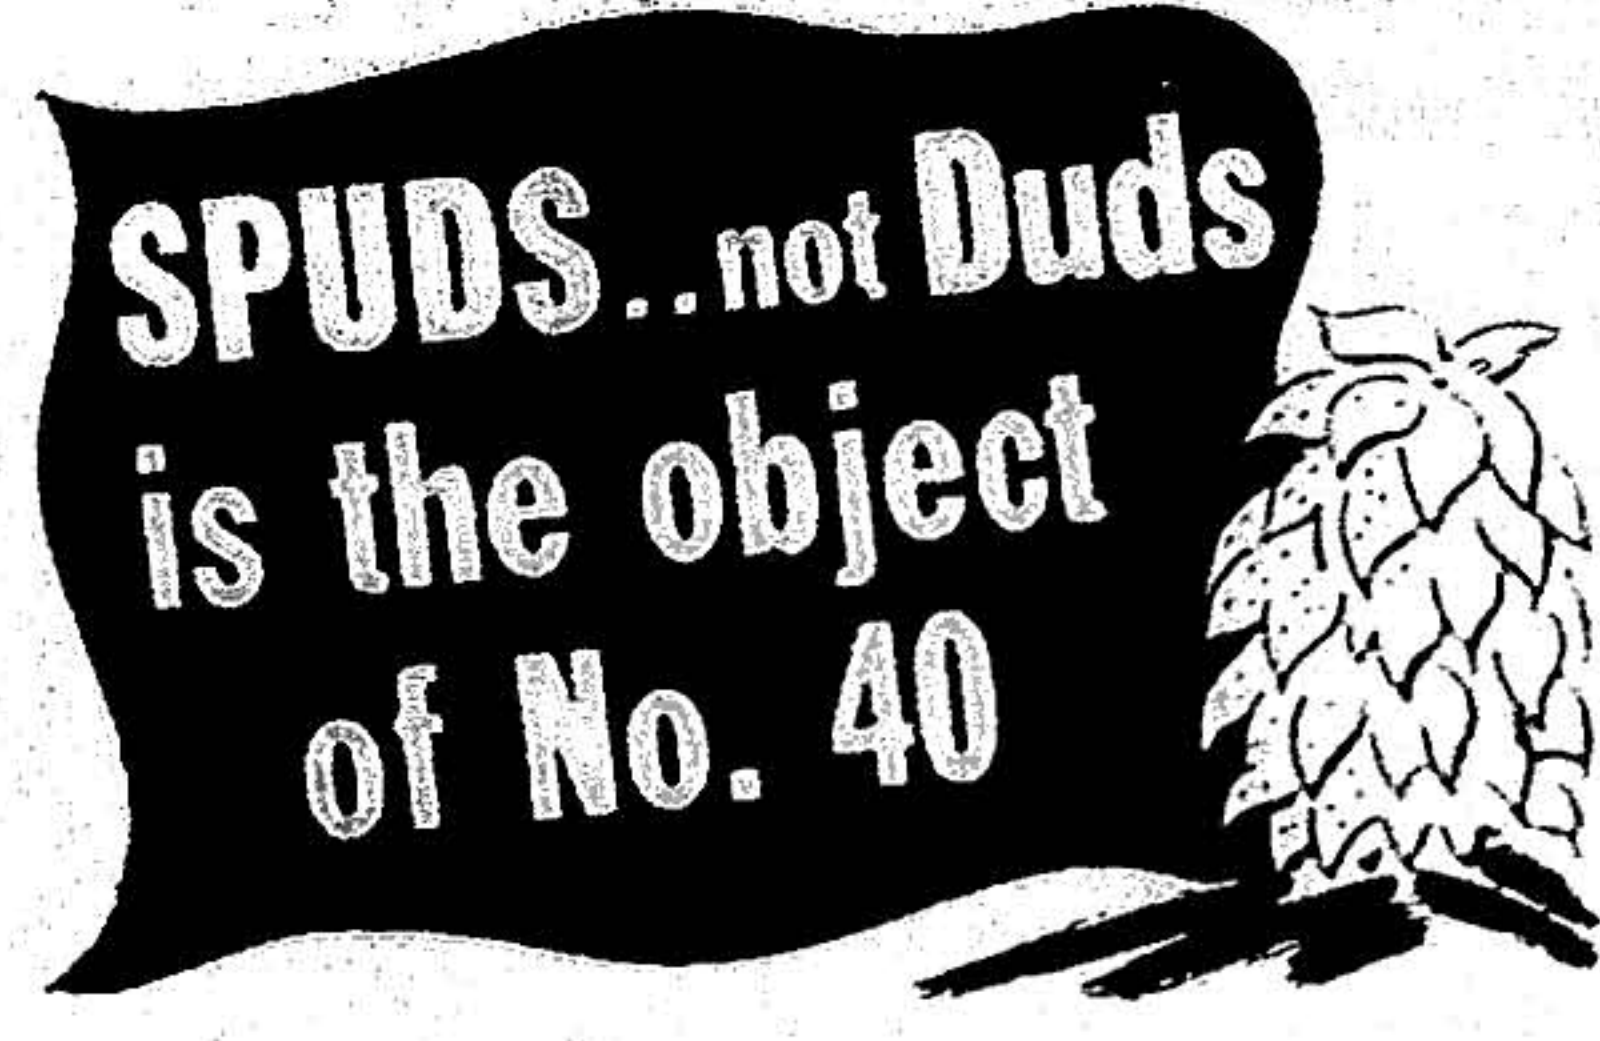

The perfect story telling of W. Somerset Maugham makes this a fascinating work. At the same time it gives the reader the opportunity of pondering to what extent the author tends for us to accept the philosophy of Machiavelli.

The manuscript of Maugham's earlier, great work, Of Human Bondage, was presented to the Library of Congress at approximately the same time this last novel was published.

HOME FRONT APPEAL
SHOWS $493 GAIN

Newmarket—The final analysis of the Salvation Army Home Front Appeal for Newmarket and district reveals a total of $2,030.37, against the 1945 campaign total for the same district of $1,537.32, an increase of $493.05.

Capt. Robinson expressed his gratitude to the committee chairman and their workers in Newmarket, Keswick and Bradford and said the increase for the 1946 campaign can be credited to the organization by the chairman and their committees.

The Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has a Special Pamphlet called Potato Culture which contains a great deal of useful information. You can obtain a copy, without charge, by writing The Department. Ask for WPS Pamphlet No. 40.

Experts on potatoes say that low yields of these can be stepped up to as much as 320 bushels to the acre. This is accomplished by using certified disease-free seed, suitable cropping methods and control of late blight and pests such as potato bugs.

CHARGE SKIERS ON PARKING CHARGES

Newmarket — Parking infractions held the spotlight in magistrate's court on Friday, as several skiers who frequent Summit, as well as a few residents along the town line between Markham and Whitechurch, were summoned to answer charges of "encumbering" the town line. Only one of those who had received summonses appeared in court to answer the charges, but several sent letters protesting the charges, while three asked for and received adjournments of one week. Summonses will be reissued to those who sent letters protesting the charges. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided.

"A letter does not constitute a defence, and there is no one here to defend these charges. The summonses will have to be reissued," Magistrate Pritchard said.

Joseph De Pencier, E. A. Armstrong, James Watson, Jack Spanton and Konrad Ostvik, all of Toronto, pleaded guilty to the parking charge by letter, and were fined $5 and costs or five days. Robert Summers, Toronto, pleaded not guilty. He said that he had not been in the district, and that the license number quoted on the summons was that of his 1946 license, whereas he had been using his 1947 license since January 18. The summons charged him with encumbering the town line on February 23. Constable Aubrey Fleury could not describe the car. Constable Fleury and Constable Mal. Sanderson had laid all the parking charges.

Lorne C. Lee, acting for the crown, requested the withdrawal of a charge against Alan E. Maughan, Aurora, on the payment of $1.75 court costs and $10 counsel fee. "I have no authority to order the payment of the counsel fee," Magistrate Pritchard said. "The charge will be withdrawn on the payment of court costs."

Robert Bull, Toronto, was convicted of consuming liquor in an illegal place and was fined $15 and costs or one month. Provincial Constable D. G. Campbell, laid the charge.

James R. Dure pleaded guilty to Provincial Constable W. A. Melbourne's charge that he had failed to dim his lights when within 500 feet of an oncoming vehicle at night. He was fined $5 and costs or five days.

"FIFTY ACRES IN SOYBEANS BROUGHT ME IN $3500 LAST YEAR!"

This successful Kent County farmer has good rich soil for his soybean crop, due to his crop rotation plan. Soybeans, which add some nitrogen to the soil, work well in crop rotations, such as sugar beets, corn, oats, soybeans... or corn, soybeans, wheat and clover.

That's why each year more and more Ontario farmers plant soybeans. But the Canadian crop must be increased many times to meet Canadian requirements. Victory Mills huge new plant needs over 3,000,000 bushels a year. So there's a ready market for all you can grow!

5 SOUND REASONS FOR GROWING SOYBEANS!

1. Soybeans have a long planting period and are EASY TO GROW, using standard methods of cultivation and standard farm equipment.
2. A profitable CASH CROP. There's a ready market for all you can grow.
3. A real SOIL-BUILDER, improving soil, tilth and adding some nitrogen—soybeans fit into any "crop rotation" planning.
4. Soybeans are a HARDY crop—resistant to drought, light frosts, and heavy rains during growing season.
5. Growing soybeans is BENEFICIAL in its lessening effect on light, heavy-textured soils.

Young Hopefuls

Getting Around Benny

Young Benny is 4½ years. His behavior isn't all that might be desired. He practices disobedience by simply ignoring the requests his mother makes. There's nothing unusual about turning a deaf ear and continuing on one's own way. The majority of children pass through this stage. The stage is of short duration, if the results aren't satisfactory. The stage is lengthened indefinitely if the results are effectual.

It's not an uncommon practice for one of the adults in a marital partnership to resort to silence and apparent unconcern as a means of winning an argument. The one, who is intent on having the last word, usually feels rather stupid when he—most often she—realizes he has been arguing at length without an audience.

Benny's mother isn't the type who pesters her child too often with trivial requests. She is quite justified in demands; even though Benny isn't sufficiently impressed to pay them the slightest heed. Somehow, Benny must see some personal advantage in doing what he is told and when he is told. Otherwise, he can't be expected to willingly stop doing what is all-absorbing to him at the moment.

Although bribery isn't advocated in any instance, a pleasant and suitable award might be forthcoming if Benny heeds his mother's requests. For example: If Benny isn't on hand for meals, someone else eats his dessert; or, perhaps, he doesn't share in the box of sweets passed after that meal.

If Benny gets dressed right away, he may go shopping with mother. If Benny is ready for bed when the clock says the time, there will be time for a story. If Benny does this now, there will be time to see a train, look at some toys, buy an ice-cream cone, go for a walk, play a game, do some painting—or whatever his little heart desires. Such strategy gets the child in the habit of obeying promptly.

Why not give the child some incentive to be obedient? In that way the child can be helped to want to do what is expected of him.

Children are quick to discover the advantages of good behavior and the disadvantages of bad behavior if the results are immediately and consistently administered. They soon learn to do those things which bring pleasant results.

V.O.N. Report Encouraging, Pay Tribute To Nurse

Aurora—The reports for January and February of Miss Marjorie McIntosh, Aurora V.O.N. nurse, have been most encouraging to the committee in charge and well illustrates her value to the community. "We wish to impress on the public, however, that her services are available to all and not for members only," Mrs. L. C. Lee, chairman of the Aurora committee, said.

In January, 179 visits were made to 57 patients. Twenty-seven of this number were new patients. In February, 118 visits were paid to 44 patients with 11 being listed as new patients.

Seventy-eight visits in January were to mothers with 11 new babies being cared for and the mothers given instructions.

For the first time since the service was inaugurated in October, a call was made without any financial return. Miss McIntosh pointed to this feature to show that her services are not for the underprivileged alone, but are available for all the community. "My services can be used by everyone needing them," she said.

A loan cupboard especially for infants is being established at the V.O.N. office and several organizations have made contributions already. Those desiring to contribute should do so at once as there is a real need for extra lavette equipment.

Miss McIntosh now serves three hours twice a week in Aurora public school and besides taking a general survey she assists the doctor in his examination of the children.

Aurora V.O.N. officials expressed satisfaction on all counts today and paid tribute to Miss McIntosh's special qualifications for her task. Not a single complaint or unfavorable comment has been received.

Home-Schoolers Told Value Of New Teaching Technique

Aurora—With the largest attendance of the year, members of the Aurora Home and School Association heard and saw a demonstration of audio-visual training in the schools, by use of motion picture, films, music, and the delineoscope. The parents and teachers were greatly impressed with the possibilities of the plan.

"We learn 80 percent by seeing, ten percent by hearing, and ten percent by doing," said Mr. McKay, one of the speakers. The blackboard and intensive study could not be replaced by any mechanism, he said, but the subjects could be more easily presented to and understood by the pupils and there could be faster progress.

Inspector O. M. McKillop endorsed the demonstration, and expressed the hope that these facilities might be included in the new school. It was a venture some organization might undertake to provide for the school, he said.

Three new pictures, "Bechwoods," by F. S. Haines; "The Plowman," by J. S. Hallam; and "Return From Easter Mass," by Albert H. Robinson, have been purchased for competition between the school classes, it was announced by Mrs. J. R. Ardill. Miss Isobel Johnston's class will hold the competitive picture for March in the parents' attendance contest.

W. R. McQuade delighted as soloist with several ballads. Mrs. McQuade was at the piano. Originally scheduled to speak at the meeting but unable to attend, Mrs. Dorothy Bowman will be the guest speaker at the April meeting.

Seeks To Send Food Boxes To U.K. Families

Newmarket—With the aim of interesting the county of York in the idea of inaugurating a civilian campaign to ship food directly overseas to Great Britain, Mrs. Caroline Edwards, Newmarket, has received the names of 25 families to whom boxes can be sent. Mrs. Edwards suggests that groups or individuals might adopt these families and assume the responsibility of sending eight consecutive boxes to them at the rate of one every six weeks. Restrictions limit these parcels to 20 pounds a month. At present the boxes are being sent by parcel post. Mrs. Edwards is trying to arrange for better shipping facilities.

Any group or individual can obtain from Mrs. Edwards the name of one of these 25 families and start sending immediately.

Ever remembered by sister Allie, brother-in-law Rob and family.

Sedore—In loving memory of our dear father, Joel Sedore, who passed away March 15, 1944.

In Queensville softly sleeping Where the flowers gently wave Lies the one we love so dearly.

The one we could not save Deep in our hearts lies a picture More precious than silver and gold.

It is a picture of you, dear father, A picture that will never grow old.

It is loneliness at home without you, father, And a sad and weary way; For life is not the same to us Since you were called away.

Rest in peace. Ever remembered by his loving son Ralph and daughter-in-law Alice.

NO BUS FOR WEEK FOR KESWICK FOLK

Local citizens are trying to remember when, if ever, Keswick didn't see a bus for a whole week before the big storm brought about such a situation. Monday morning, March 3, the bus went south as usual, although the storm was well underway. No bus was seen again until the forenoon of Monday, March 10, when one arrived from Newmarket. The school bus stayed in Newmarket from Monday through Thursday, returning the evening of the latter day. High school pupils from Keswick and Roche's Point school sections were billeted in the homes of Newmarket students.

While it was true, as local commentators pointed out, that on neither road could you go far, Keswick motorists had nine miles of well plowed highway available to them by Wednesday night, March 5. From Lockerie's corner, three miles south of Keswick, to the corner of the county highway and the fourth concession, a total of five miles, was open and so was the four-mile stretch from Keswick to Roche's Point.

Bread boxes became empty but milk bottles were never in danger of getting the same way, not in a community surrounded by dairy farms. Villagers will appreciate milk deliveries all the more, now that they have had a little experience of walking through snow in order to get milk.

One of the disappointments from out of the storm was that sustained by the choir of Keswick public school. After practicing for several weeks to compete in the rural school choir's section of the Kiwanis Music Festival in Toronto, they just couldn't get there.

Miss Betty Morton, Toronto, was the recent guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Angus King.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gilroy were here from Oakville on Sunday.

Miss Lois Marritt was home from Toronto for the weekend. Henry Kanis, who has been in Toronto hospital for some time as the result of an accident to his foot, is now convalescing at the Roche's Point home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kanis.

Gordon Winch, student at University of Toronto and a candidate for the ministry of the United Church of Canada, will speak at the morning service of Keswick United church Sunday, March 16.

The Keswick-Sutton midget hockey team made a long, long trip (about 135 miles) to Madoc, Hastings county, on Saturday, March 8. They lost, 6-2, in the first game of the quarter finals for the Ontario midget C title.

Mrs. Wm. J. Rye Dies In Toronto Recently

The widow of William J. Rye, who died February 2, 1946, Mary Jane Rutledge, Toronto, formerly of Zephyr, died in Toronto February 23 following a period of ill health. Funeral service was held from the Strasser Funeral Parlors in Queensville with Rev. J. King and Rev. Bossm officiating. Interment was in Queensville.

Pallbearers were four step-sons and two sons-in-law, Charles, Milford, Alvin and Freeman Rye, Otto Kydd and James Heat-on.

Mrs. Rye was born near Holt, the daughter of the late Harriet Pegg and Mervin Rutledge. She married Mr. Rye in 1908. A member of the Presbyterian church, she is survived by her step-sons and two step-daughters, Mrs. James Heaton (Rose), Toronto, and Mrs. W. O. Kydd (Gladys), Toronto, and three sisters, Mrs. Shaw, Keswick, and Mrs. C. A. Denwell and Mrs. A. E. Vrooman, Winnipeg.

WILLOW BEACH

Miss Helen Huntley has been confined to her home with the measles.

On Tuesday, Feb. 25, Mrs. John McNeill had a number of ladies in to a quilting.

Mr. Norval Powell was home over the weekend.

Willow Beach was practically cut off from the outside world the past week owing to road conditions. There was no mail until Saturday, bread and milk trucks got through Friday. The lakeshore road from Roche's Point to Willow Beach corner of the 6th concession is impassable. An engagement of interest is that of Norval Powell of Willow Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Powell, to Betty Warrick of Toronto. The wedding to take place in Toronto on Saturday, March 15.

RUPTURED?

THE DOBBS TRUSS METHOD for treatment of rupture is DIFFERENT but PROVEN by thousands of wearers in many lands

IT'S BULBLESS! IT'S BELTLESS! IT'S STRAPLESS It has no bulb or ball to spread the weakened muscle tissue and enlarge the rupture opening. It has no belt or strap to irritate the skin or bind the body and impede free circulation. A soft CONCAVE pad holds the rupture closed while walking, lifting, working or swimming. Presses the body in but two pieces.

A qualified fitter of the Dobbs Truss Co. will be at BELL'S I.D.A. DRUG STORE Monday, March 17, 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. Ask for Mr. Black Free demonstration - No obligation (Clip this ad now)

WORKING TOGETHER SAFEGUARD YOUR HEALTH

GO TO YOUR DOCTOR FOR DIAGNOSIS

When sick or hurt, do not substitute "home" remedies for sound professional counsel. Seek your physician—promptly. Call on him at his office before he has to call on you. Then accept and carefully follow his experienced judgment and counsel. In this way you can best serve yourself and family. Should your doctor give you a prescription, may we have the privilege of compounding it?

FEED PURINA CHICK STARTENA

THE STARTER WITH

"INGREDIENT POWER"

Remember last fall's egg market? Everything points the same way for this year. Anyone who has a flock of well grown, fully developed pullets in production next fall is going to be "in the money". How about your flock? Will you be "wishing" or "cashing"? It depends partly on the kind of chicks you start, partly on the way you start them; partly on the way you grow them.

We can supply Purina Chick Startena, the starter with "ingredient power", to get your chicks away to a flying start. . . . Chick-R-Tabs to protect their health (drop one tablet in each quart of drinking water) . . . and a good Purina growing feed to grow them out big and strong, once they're past the starting period. Use these helps to better pullets and next fall you'll not be merely wishing—you'll be cashing.
